

Contributors

Harry Bagiole, a resident of Belfast, Prince Edward Island, is co-author of The Island and Confederation: The End of an Era and Cornelius Howatt: Superstar!

Janet Dale is Genealogist at the Prince Edward Island Heritage Foundation. She lives at Orwell.

Allan Graham is editor of Island Prose and Poetry: An Anthology. Jessie Graham shares her husband's interest in the history of Prince County.

Deirdre Kessler, a local folksinger, teaches at Vernon River Consolidated School.

Wayne E. MacKinnon, a native of Brooklyn, Prince Edward Island, is author of The Life of the Party and Walter Jones: The Farmer Premier.

Margaret Furnace MacLeod is a well-known Island-born poet and writer who now makes her home in Montreal.

Robert A. Rankin is currently writing a history of the town of Summerside. He resides at Breadlabane.

Ian Ross Robertson, a native of Mermaid, Prince Edward Island, lectures in Atlantic Canada history at Scarborough College, University of Toronto. Professor Robertson wrote his doctoral dissertation on Sir Andrew Macphail.

Irene L. Rogers is a local historian from Charlottetown. A former school teacher, Mrs. Rogers is noted for her knowledge of Island architectural history.

Robert C. Tuck, Anglican Church minister and noted local cartoonist, is currently writing a book on the life of Island architect William C. Harris.

